Introduction

These standing orders describe the operational and governance arrangements for managing the work of the Scottish Health Technologies Group (SHTG). This includes the SHTG Executive Team, the Scottish Health Technologies Group Council and the Evidence Review Team (ERT).

The SHTG Executive Team may seek to convene other groups to facilitate the work of SHTG. Terms of reference will be developed separately for each group.

1. SHTG

1.1 Function

The function of SHTG is to fulfil the Healthcare Improvement Scotland (HIS) statutory responsibility under The Public Services Reform (Scotland) Act 2010 10C (1) (d) '... provision of advice to the health service on the clinical and cost effectiveness of new and existing health technologies including drugs'.

This responsibility exists owing to:

- The widespread use of health technologies that have potential for health benefit but also harm across health and social care settings.
- A substantial spend on health technology use within NHS Scotland / Health and social care and the need to make best use of limited resources.
- The need to support value-based decision making on the use of health technologies.

HIS' statutory responsibility is delegated to the two health technologies groups; the Scottish Medicines Consortium (SMC) and SHTG.

1.2 Role

SHTG is a national health technology assessment (HTA) agency providing advice to NHSScotland on the use of new and existing health technologies that are likely to have significant implications for people's care in Scotland.

SHTG's vision is for all our work to contribute to the provision of better health and social care for everyone in Scotland. To help achieve this vision, SHTG offers a range of HTA 'products', from bespoke assessments to national recommendations for Scotland.

SHTG's approach is built around the following key principles: independent review and sharing of knowledge; making the best use of our team's expertise; being receptive to the needs of stakeholders; and putting collaboration at the heart of our approach.

SHTG acknowledges that evidence and advice constitutes only one of the sources needed for decision-making and planning in NHSScotland. For example, SHTG advice does not override the individual responsibility of health professionals to apply clinical judgement according to the circumstances of the individual patient, in consultation with the patient and/or guardian or carer.

1.3 Governance

SHTG operates within the Evidence Directorate of HIS. The work of SHTG is governed by the SHTG Executive Team, reporting to the Quality and Performance Committee, a committee of the HIS Board.

SHTG is connected to the wider work of HIS through representation on the standing groups and committees of HIS. Significant risks or issues are escalated to the HIS Executive Team or Board by the Director of Evidence.

1.4 Operations

The SHTG Team is formed from staff employed by HIS within the Evidence Directorate. It includes staff from different disciplines and teams and comprises:

- Unit Head
- Programme Manager
- Senior Project Officers (x2)
- Project Officer
- Administration support

SHTG's work is supported by the HIS Evidence Research and Information Service (RIS), including:

- Health Service Researchers
- Health Economists
- Information Scientists

HIS Evidence maintains a central register of all interests declared for SHTG and related committees and groups in accordance with the HIS Evidence code of practice on declaration of interests

1.5 Activities

SHTG will:

1. Develop and publish advice on health technologies that is reliable, high quality and relevant.
2. Provide a range of products that will contribute to robust decision-making at national or local level based on the best available evidence for Scotland
3. Support the establishment and improvement of mechanisms within health policy and clinical practice to consider advice on health technologies.
4. Maintain clear communication channels and processes for industry, academia and healthcare professionals to contribute and be aware of HTA activities.
5. Engage patients, their formal and informal carers and patient organisations in contributing to HTA processes.
6. Participate in local, regional and global HTA activities.
